Authorizes the Office of the State Engineer, New Mexico Environment Department, and Energy, Minerals and Natural Resources Department to award grants and projects from the newly created strategic water supply fund; imposes a new 5-cent-per-barrel tax on produced water resulting from oil and gas production, and impose new regulation on drilling notices; directs the revenue from the proposed 5-cent-per-barrel of produced water tax be deposited in the fund; creates carve outs for when the new fee will apply and when it does not, stating the fee will not apply if the produced water is: (1) Used for enhanced or secondary oil; (2) Recycled or reused at a well or facility that is permitted by the Oil Conservation Division of the Energy, Minerals and Natural Resources Department; or (3) Used in a way regulated by the Water Quality Control Commission pursuant to the Water Quality Act and for which a permit from the Department of Environment is required; also increases the reporting requirements of the Oil Conservation Division, requiring the division to track which barrels of produced water are subject to the proposed produced water barrel fee; makes appropriations. UPDATE : Committee substitute (2/11/25) aims to strip so-called produced water from the measure. In addition to removing fracking wastewater projects, it will include a “broader universe” of brackish water. Initially, the bill only allowed projects to take advantage of deep groundwater, located 2,500 feet below the surface, to avoid conflicts over water rights. The new version would allow for shallower wells to be tapped, as long as the projects respect existing water rights-holders and follow state regulations.
