

Jeff Myers, CPL has been an active member of AAPL since 1977 and although he is currently “semi-retired” he continues working in the industry as President and owner of Landmen.com, Inc. Mr. Myers graduated with a Petroleum Land Management degree from the University of Oklahoma where he was awarded the Julian J. Rothbaum Award. Jeff has enjoyed a highly successful career in the Oil and Gas industry for more than 40 years with the majority of it spent as a self-employed Landman and business owner.

Jeff’s most celebrated career accomplishment has been founding Associated Resources Inc. (ARI) in 1993, which specializes in the outsourcing of various oil and gas contractors covering all aspects of the energy field. ARI was recognized by The Journal Record’s infamous “Tulsa’s Fast 40” list after becoming one of Oklahoma’s more prominent outsource companies for Oil and Gas Services. After almost 20 years, Jeff sold ARI and it continues to operate successfully today as a corporate partner of Dudley Land Company.

Jeff began his distinguished career in 1974 as a roughneck then continued a lease broker to help pay for college. After graduation in 1979, he became a Landman at Anaconda Copper Company then Land Manager at Aspen Exploration before starting a company of his own in 1984. Jeff has employed well over 300 people during his career as well as hired a similar number of contract landmen or consultants. His record as a top employer of energy management graduates has served the industry well. Not only for his companies but has also successfully placed many at major and independent companies.

Mr. Myers has been extremely active as a member of AAPL and TAPL. Jeff has served as a member and chaired several AAPL committees including the Field Landman Committee, the Education Foundation Fundraising Committee, the Publications Committee and the Certification Committee where he authored the RPL Test in the 90’s. Mr. Myers, a CPL himself, has taught the CPL certification course and has been a regular contributor to AAPL’s “Landman” publications.

As a TAPL member, Mr. Myers has served on the Board multiple times and presided as President, Editor of the Newsletter, By-Laws Committee, AAPL Director and currently serves on the Career Assistance Program Committee. Jeff was awarded the TAPL Landman of the Year in 2012, received the TAPL Lifetime Achievement Award in 2013 and is a member of the Century Club.

In his free time Jeff finds time to give back to his community by donating his time to organizations such as the Tulsa Area YMCA and has played a vital role with the Boy Scouts of America. He is an avid cyclist, pilot, Certified Scuba Diver and loves spending time with his grandson and family.

Throughout his life Jeff Myers has persevered over many obstacles both in business and his personal life, but none greater than the adversity he faced after surviving a plane crash in January of 2005. It was Mr. Myers’s determination and strength that not only brought him through his amazing trials, but also made him an invaluable member to his profession, his community, and his family. He exudes all of the attributes many strive for throughout their career and has accomplished so much. To be recognized by his peers with this Lifetime Achievement Award would be well deserved.
